

Dad and Rex Go Ice-skating

On Sunday morning, Dad and Rex are at the airport because they are going to Canada. They are excited.

It is winter so the weather is cold and windy. They are wearing their blue mittens, thick red jackets, green scarves and brown striped sweaters. They feel great because they can't enjoy the cold weather in Hong Kong.

Rex and Dad go ice-skating at the iced pond. They are falling down on the ice. 'Ouch!' they scream.

Dad and Rex are sitting on the ice and laughing at each other. It's because it is the first time for Dad and Rex to go ice-skating. They need more practice.