

Tom's Football Dream

One day, Tom watched a football match with his dad. He was amazed that the football players played very well in the match. He thought, 'Wow! They did very well!' Tom said to Dad, 'Dad, I want to be a football player.' Dad cheered along the way. The rest of the audience cheered along too.

The next week, Tom joined the football team in his primary school. The captain of the team John said to Tom, 'Welcome, Tom!' Tom was very excited.

At the football practice, Tom and the football team members were playing football together. When he tried to kick the ball, he twisted his ankle and he got hurt.

In the end, John saw what happened and asked the coach to stop the practice. Tom was sent to the medical room and got the treatment from the nurse. From the accident, he learnt that he should do more warm up exercises before practising football.
