

Sam In Old Hong Kong

When Sam woke up, he was in 1951. He looked outside the window. He saw many old buildings, old buses and a market. He was very surprised. Then he ran to the park.

He saw a bench and a roundabout there. Two girls were playing hopscotch. Sam wanted to play electronic games but there weren't any. The girls asked him to play together. Sam felt very bored. He sat on the roundabout and wanted to go home. He missed his computer very much.

Then, Sam heard a nice voice, 'My dear Sam, wake up!' Sam opened his eyes. He saw Mum standing next to his bed. He saw his computer on his desk. He looked outside the window, there were modern buildings, MTR stations and supermarkets.

He felt very lucky that it was only a dream.
