

Watching TV

Alan was at home. He was watching cartoons in the living room after school. He wanted to watch cartoons because they're funny.

Fifteen minutes later, Amy arrived at home and wanted to watch sports programmes. She asked, 'Alan, may I watch sports programmes? I don't like cartoons. They're silly.'

Alan answered, 'I don't like sports programmes. They're boring!' After a while, they both had an idea. They decided to watch a film together. Alan said, 'Maybe we can watch a horror film together.' Amy nodded happily.

Lastly, Alan and Amy watched a horror film. They screamed and laughed a lot. They also ate lots of popcorn. They had a wonderful time.
