Hi Roy,

How are you? Let me tell you about my bus ride yesterday.

Yesterday after school, I took a bus home. I sat next to an old man. There were two boys sitting opposite us. They were eating curry fish balls. I was annoyed because it was not right to eat on the bus.

Not long after, an old lady got on the bus. The old lady was sick and shivering. I offered my seat to her when the boys were playing with their food.

I was leaving my seat when one of the boys dropped his food on my leg and shoe. I felt angry because my leg was very dirty. Everyone was shocked.

I took out a towel and cleaned my leg. The boy quickly picked up the curry fish balls and apologised to me. I forgave him and told him not to eat on the bus ever again.
