

My Dream Job

From a young age, I have always had a deep love for animals. They can sometimes get injured or sick, which is why I want to be a vet to help them. Kelly Eyre is my role model because she provides exceptional care for animals.

I am good at taking care of animals and I have adopted a turtle since I was six. It's still living serenely till now! I have learnt about animals from the internet too.

Vets need to be patient and caring. They need to calm down animals, as some may try to escape when they are scared.

I need to learn more about animal health and diseases so that I can effectively examine and treat them. Besides, I need to improve my communication skills to interact better with pet owners.

I can gain experience by participating in activities related to animals.

If I become a vet, I will take care of sick animals to ensure they lead a healthy and joyful life, bringing happiness to their owners!
